Independent Mental Capacity Advocacy

What is the Independent Mental Capacity Advocate (IMCA) Service and how does it work?

The purpose of the IMCA service is to help particularly vulnerable people who lack the capacity to make important decisions about serious medical treatment and changes of accommodation, and who have no family or friends that it would be appropriate to consult about these decisions, or about care reviews or Adult Protection proceedings.

The IMCA service safeguards the rights of people aged 16 years and over who:

- Lack capacity to make a specified decision at the time it needs to be made

The Mental Capacity Act 2005 (MCA) says everyone has the right to make their own decisions and must be given all practicable help to do so before they are deemed as lacking capacity. In order to process this referral, we require confirmation that an appropriate mental capacity assessment has been undertaken. The person's capacity must be assessed in relation to the decision to be made. Generic assessments of capacity are not sufficient.

- Have nobody else who is willing and able to represent them or be consulted in the process of working out their best interests, other than paid staff

NHS and Local Authority Decision Makers need to determine if there are family or friends who are willing and able to be consulted about the proposed decision. If not, an IMCA will work with and support people who lack capacity, and represent their views to those who are considering their best interests in accordance with the MCA.

If a decision needs to be taken about a Care Review or Safeguarding case, there is now a statutory duty to refer under the Care Act 2014, and an ICAA referral should be made for an Independent Care Act Advocate.
